LA FOLLETTE GOES ON OHIO BALLOT

Petitions Filed With Secretary of State Brown.

CARRY 28,000 SIGNATURES

Total Is Ten Thousand In Excess of the Number Required by Law. Commonwealth Land Party, Socialists, Prohibitionists and Socialist Laborites Also Expected to Qualify Before the Closing Hour.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—Independent progressives will be on the Ohio ballot in November.

Petitions bearing 28,000 names have been filed with Secretary of State Brown, insuring a place on the ticket for Senators La Follette and Wheeler, who head the new party.

Only 17,271 signatures are required under the law, and would validate the petitions, so that with more than 10,000 in excess of the required number, the placing of the names of the new party on the Ohio ballot is made certain. As the time for filing petitions for independent candidates does not expire until Monday night, Secretary Brown said he expected that several thousand additional signatures would be filed before the closing hour. Workers are still circulating the petitions.

The largest number of signers was from Cuyahoga county, where 22,156 valid signatures were certified by the election board of that county. Franklin county signers numbered 3,488, while Stark had 1,491, Richland, 584, and Belmont, 517. Other petitions were received from smaller counties with an accordingly smaller number of signatures, all of which had been approved as valid by county election boards.

Secretary Brown said that he expected several other independent parties to file before the closing hour Monday, including the Commonwealth Land party, Socialist-Labor party, and the Socialists, as well as the Prohibitionists, who may be able to qualify.

The Commonwealth Land party, headed by W. J. Wallace for president and J. C. Lincoln for vice-president, has already 15,966 valid signatures filed and approved by the Cuyahoga county election board. This party will also have a complete state ticket in the field. The Prohibition party has 5,549 signatures on file from Franklin county and the Socialist-Labor party has 3,315 signatures on file from Cuyahoga county and 634 from Stark.

The Commonwealth Land party state ticket is headed by Virgil D. Allen of Cleveland for governor, and W. O. Base of Youngstown for lieutenant governor. The Socialist-Labor national ticket is headed by Frank T. Johns of Portland, Oregon, for president, and Verne L. Reynolds of Baltimore, Md., for vice president. Felix J. Catlin of Scienceville is the gubernatorial candidate.

Mr. Allison will look after the assignment of all speakers during the campaign and when he assumed office today he found hundreds of requests from county committees, which he will fill as far as possible during the next few weeks. Mr. Dye is in Washington to make sure of securing a number of prominent Democrats for the campaign. It was also announced that Mrs. F. M. Gorman of Cincinnati, vice president of the executive committee, will take up her duties at state headquarters next week. She will be in charge of women's organization work. John Wood of Georgetown has been made treasurer of the campaign committee.

24 BUSHEL PER ACRE

Average Yield of Corn in Ohio This Year, According to West.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—C. J. West, state-federal crop statistician, predicts that the average yield of corn this year will be slightly less than 24 bushels per acre, as compared with 41 bushels last year. Indications, he said, pointed to the lowest acreage yield in almost 31 years, or since 1893, when, because of the drought, the yield was unusually low. The forecast of Mr. West for the year's crop is 9,500,000 bushels, as compared with a yield last year of 160,000,000, inclement weather and delayed planting are held responsible for the shortage. In southwestern Ohio the crop prospects are the best of any in the state, while in the northwest portion they are especially poor this year. "The weather has been consistently against Ohio corn from the beginning," said West's report.

TEST TO BE MADE IN OHIO THIS YEAR

Probationary Promotion Advocated by Education Division.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—The state department of education announced that the first comprehensive test of probationary promotion is to be made in Ohio this year.

Smaller communities of the state have agreed to adopt the idea, suggested as a means of eliminating retardation of progress except where actually necessary.

Under this plan, a child who has failed will be sent into the next higher grade, for trial, for five or six weeks. In event ability to make good is demonstrated, the promotion will be made permanent. If not, the child will be sent back to the lower grade.

Among cities and towns which have announced intention to give probationary promotion a trial this year are Dayton, Fremont, Circleville, Gallopis, Geneva, Warren, Nelsonville, Wellston, Willard, Ravenna and Marietta. Larger cities have shown no disposition to adopt the plan, but it is believed that if it is demonstrated successfully in smaller schools it will find more general favor next year.

Cuyahoga county schools carried out the experiment in the fall of 1923. All failures in grades one to eight in a certain group of schools were advanced on trial. The number thus affected was 239. Of this number 159 were retained in the advanced grades.

The department of education has collected similar data from numerous other sources and is convinced that from two-thirds to three-fourths of all elementary pupils now failing might be saved from this loss of possibly a year's time. Based upon this assumption, it is estimated that at least 48,000 of the 95,000 failures in Ohio schools in 1923 could have been avoided.

Girl Shot.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Lena Teritoria, 13, was shot in the shoulder as the result of a dispute as to who tipped police to make a liquor raid in a neighbor's home. Police are searching for a 17-year-old youth said to have fired the shot.

MANCHURIANS MARCH ON PEKIN

Government Organizing Forces to Repel Invaders.

CAPITAL UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Conscripted Labor Turning Out Munitions For the Assault on Pekin. Lull in the Fighting Before Shanghai Caused by Bad Weather. French Reply to Pekin Government's Protest.

Shanghai, Sept. 13.—The government at Pekin is preparing for hostilities. Sixty thousand troops are making ready to repel an invasion from the north.

The city has been placed under martial law by an order extending the powers of the gendarmerie.

Chang Tso Lin is mobilizing his full forces and moving southward from Manchuria, explaining as he advanced that this is merely a customary "autumn maneuver." The Pekin government, headed by President Tso Kun, and maintained by the alliance of Wu Pei Fu and Chi Hsieh Yuan, has announced its unalterable opposition to any intervention by the powers. It is willing to stand or fall on the strength of the present unification policy.

The rival armies deadlocked before Shanghai still are prevented by miry conditions under foot from renewing their conflict. General Lu Yung Hsiang visited his front and made speeches to cheer up the troops.

The Manchurian army is said to be under the command of General Li Ching-Ling, with Chang Tso-Lin's son, General Chang Hsueh-Liang, as second in command. The arsenal at Mukden is working overtime with conscripted labor to turn out munitions for the proposed assault on Pekin and the allies of Wu Pei-Fu, military dictator in the Chinese capital.

The Chinese government was officially informed by the French legation at Pekin that the French government is without power to stop the sale of commercial airplanes to Chang Tso Lin, war lord of Manchuria. The Chinese foreign office previously had protested against the purchase by the Manchurian dictator of a number of Breguet airplanes, insisting that it was obvious that Chang's intention was to employ the machines for war purposes. This, it was urged, would make sale of the airplanes to the Manchurian a violation of the arms embargo agreement. The French reply stated that the planes in question, it was understood, were commercial planes and that there was no French law forbidding the exportation of them.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

To Seek Drivers' License Law.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—A drive in the Ohio legislature for a statewide drivers' license law will be waged by the Cleveland safety council, A. H. Lintz, manager of the council, announced. Lintz's decision followed establishment of an "eye clinic" for examination of the eyes of motorists arrested on charges of careless driving, in the belief that a large proportion of auto accidents can be traced to defective vision of drivers.

Foreign Fliers Eliminated.

Dayton, O., Sept. 13.—Foreign competition has been eliminated from the Pulitzer high speed trophy event, the concluding race feature of the international air races to be held at Wright field next month. Race officials announced receipt of information that Sadi Lacombe, French flier, had abandoned his plan to come to America and compete in the event.

Scalded to Death.

Newark, O., Sept. 13.—Charles H. E. Gartner was scalded to death when he fell into a tank of scalding water at the Baltimore and Ohio shops at Garret, Ind. He formerly resided here. His brother, Henry Gartner, was killed last spring when his engine went through a bridge south of Newark during a flood.

State Squad Reports.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—More than 60 athletes reported today to Dr. J. W. Wilce, director of football, for the official opening of Ohio State's 1924 football campaign. A score of veterans, including a dozen letter men from last fall, are being counted upon as the nucleus for the newest Buckeye eleven.

Fire Attacks Village.

Portsmouth, O., Sept. 13.—Fire destroyed a number of buildings in the village of Rome, in Adams county. Eight structures, including K. of P. hall, were razed. Fire companies from this city and nearby Adams county villages aided the Rome fire fighters.

Referendum on Gas Rate Boost.

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.—Petitions are to be circulated here for a referendum on the gas rate boost voted by city council by a vote of 19 to 12. The new rate is 75 cents minimum for the first 5,000 cubic feet of gas. It is to become effective Dec. 15.

Third Offense Liquor Charge.

Marysville, O., Sept. 13.—John Shy of Columbus was sentenced to the penitentiary from one to five years by Judge Cameron here when he pleaded guilty to a third offense liquor charge.

Banker's Son Kills Self.

Coshocton, O., Sept. 13.—Earl Narragon, 25, son of a West Lafayette banker, hanged himself here. Ill health is said to have been the reason for his act.

Labor Attacks Dawes.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 13.—The state convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor adopted a declaration attacking Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president. The declaration reviews his alleged connection with the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Saving bank of Chicago and names him as "a demagogue, who has no peer in American politics." It further alleges that Dawes was an advocate of the open shop.

TAKES POISON IN HOTEL ROOM

Doctor, Convicted in Narcotic Case, Commits Suicide.

ALLEGED MEMBER OF DOPERING

Found Guilty in Federal Court at Toledo of Conspiracy to Violate the Narcotic Drug Act—Two Others in the Same Case Are Convicted, One Being Sentenced to the Atlanta Penitentiary.

Toledo, Sept. 13.—Found guilty in federal court here of conspiracy to violate the narcotic drug law, Dr. J. J. Boone of Mt. Victory, O., committed suicide by swallowing poison.

Boone, who was charged with being a member of a "million dollar dope ring," was found unconscious in his hotel room in this city. He failed to show up in Judge Killitt's court and the latter, after forfeiting Dr. Boone's $10,000 bond, issued a capias for his arrest.

A maid in the hotel was attracted to Boone's room by groans. Attendants broke in and discovered him unconscious. He was rushed to a hospital, where he died.

Dr. Boone left three letters. One was addressed to his wife, one was addressed to Judge Killitt, the latter being a scathing denunciation of the court for the manner in which the trial was conducted. The third was addressed to his mother.

To his mother he wrote: "Mother Dear—I have ruined you financially. It's a shame, but I have told them to care for you with implicit love.—J. J. Boone."

Two other defendants in the same case were convicted. Earl Tapp was convicted of conspiring to violate the narcotic laws and Dr. Oscar C. Pettiford was convicted of improperly keeping his narcotic records. Pettiford was sentenced to Atlanta for 15 months by Judge Killitt at once. Tapp was released on bond and will be sentenced later. Calvin Trapkey, a fourth defendant, turned state's evidence and testified for the government during the trial. He has served 184 days in jail.

The case was the outgrowth of suspicion of federal narcotic inspectors that a "ring" was operating near Kenton, O. Unsuccessful efforts were made to locate it until in the fall of 1921, when a drug company in St. Louis tipped inspectors of a shipment of narcotics for Lima, O. The shipment was consigned to "B. A. Martin & Company." The men were arrested following this tip.

CONDITIONS IN OHIO

Improvement Noted Along Industrial and Business Lines.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Gradual improvement along business and industrial lines is shown by a survey of conditions in Ohio just completed by the department of labor. The state at large and 21 Ohio cities are covered in the report of the survey. Concerning general conditions in the state at large the report says: "A slight improvement in employment was noted during August. The steel industry is recovering from its recent depression and building in Ohio is on the increase. Many coal miners in the New Philadelphia district are unemployed. A steady increase of production in rubber factories during the past several weeks resulted in a large addition to working forces in the various plants. A new $3,000,000 plant of a large plate-glass company at Fultonham is just getting into operation and will afford employment to a number of men. The first two units of a large electric plant at Philo, near Zanesville, will start running in less than a month."

Alleged Abuses in Primaries.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Changes in the political attitude of thousands of voters in Cleveland, Youngstown and other points is to be investigated in an effort to clean up alleged abuses arising in the August primaries. Thousands of voters are said to have requested different party tickets than they called for at the April primaries, but no challenge was made because this might have prevented them from voting. In Cleveland the board of elections has called 350 precinct judges to appear in an effort to clean up the alleged abuse of the primary system.

Touched Live Wire.

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.—Burned when he accidentally touched a short circuit wire at a local electric plant, Samuel Lane, 29, died at a hospital.

DEATH INCREASE NOTED

Industrial Accidents in Ohio During Month of July.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—According to the monthly report of John H. Lamneck, chief of the workmen's compensation division of the department of public relations, 83 workmen met death in industrial accidents during the month of August and 15,383 others were injured. A greater number of claims were heard and collections were nearly $1,000,000 in excess of the July collections, the report also showed.

Disbursements from the state insurance fund during August amounted to $378,357.90. Compared with this stood a collection during the month of $1,767,240.94 in premiums, making a balance of $46,581,212.83 in the fund. Of this sum, $42,194,488.59 is reserved for paying claims allowed injured workmen and dependents of those killed. The surplus fund had a balance of $1,866,112.09.

Death claims filed showed 18 more workers were killed during August than in July, but there was a reduction in the number of those injured by 196.

Gas Corporation Elects.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—Organization of the Ohio Fuel corporation, a holding company proposed to take over the stock of the Ohio Fuel Supply company, Manufacturers' Light and Heat company and Union Natural Gas company was effected at Pittsburgh. Officers elected to the corporation are: George W. Crawford, president; F. W. Crawford, T. B. Gregory and L. B. Denning, vice presidents.

FREY NEW PRESIDENT

Ohio Federation of Labor Adopts Several Resolutions.

Springfield, O., Sept. 13.—John P. Frey of Cincinnati, editor of the Iron Molder, was elected president of the Ohio Federation of Labor here. T. J. Donnelly of Columbus was elected secretary-treasurer and Lee Hall of Columbus first vice president. A resolution endorsing the La Follette-Wheeler candidacy was adopted after spirited debate. The convention went on record in a resolution favoring a modification of the Volstead act which would permit the sale of light wines and beer. A resolution urging modification of Ohio's "blue laws" to permit Sunday movies also was adopted.

Fatal Mistake.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Harriet Hallwood, 22, died as the result of having taken a large quantity of oxalic acid by mistake. Mrs. Hallwood had prepared a dose of epsom salts, which she intended to take. By mistake she picked up a cup containing two or three ounces of oxalic acid, which was being used for cleaning purposes.

Safety for Milk Drinkers
Sterilization is a process by which the temperature of milk is raised high enough or maintained long enough to destroy all germs and spores. This method is seldom employed because it gives the milk a boiled taste. In pasteurization the temperature used is high enough only to destroy most germs, including disease germs, such as those of tuberculosis and typhoid.

Clock as Money Box
A savings bank in the United States is making a present of a clock to every new depositor. It is a timepiece of a peculiar kind, and is really a combination of a clock and a safe. It needs rewinding every 24 hours, but before it can be rewound a coin must be inserted. The owner is thus compelled to add something to his savings every day.—London Tit-Bits.

When Canaries Molt
Canaries renew their feathers once a year. Adults molt late in the summer. Young birds molt the juvenile body plumage after leaving the nest, but keep the first growth of wing and tail feathers for a year. Canaries are somewhat dull and stupid while molting, and should be disturbed as little as possible.

Seven Wise Sayings
The "Sayings of the Seven Wise Men" are the mottoes which were inscribed in the Temple of Apollo at Delphi and were "Know thyself," by Simon of Athens; "Consider the end," Chilo of Sparta; "Suretyship is the precursor of ruin," Thales of Miletos; "Most men are bad," Bias of Priene; "Avoid excess," Cleobulus of Lindus; "Know thine opportunity," by Pittacus of Miletus; "Nothing is impossible to industry," by Periander of Corinth.

Electrical Ice Machines
A thousand tons of ice are made electrically every day by a New York city artificial ice company. This concern has been in business since 1900 and used steam power to operate its plant. Now, instead, electrical energy supplied by a service company at 13,000 volts converts water drawn from city water mains into 300-pound cakes of ice.

The Important Points
It is nearly always a mistake to listen to a woman; a man rarely learns anything from what she says. Her manner, her hesitations, her expression, and particularly what she doesn't say, are all far more important.—From "On the Veranda," by Holloway Horn.

FIND JOHNSON IS ORPHANS' FRIEND

Orphans of soldiers of the World War have found in Dr. O. G. Johnson, of Fostoria, Mich., a devoted and far seeing friend—the sort of friend who makes his interest count for the maximum in good works. Doctor Johnson, who is now manager and medical director of the American Legion Children's Billet No. 1, at Otter Lake, Mich., has been connected with the development of that haven of refuge for the waifs of war since the inception of the idea which found expression in it.

After the Michigan department in 1922 approved the idea, which was conceived by Mark T. McKee, the Seventh Michigan district sought a site for the billet. Doctor Johnson was chairman of the committee appointed to raise funds for its purchase. Donations of $11,500 were secured and the grounds were bought. The department accepted them.

Through the efforts of Dr. Johnson, who is a state senator, and of Senator Gansser, the latter of Bay City, Mich., a bill appropriating $50,000 to be used by the Legion in construction work was passed by the state legislature in 1923. Building operations were started ed soon after. The billet was formally dedicated recently, and there are now under its sheltering care 27 children.

Doctor Johnson, enlisting on July 12, 1917, was ordered overseas 17 days later. He was placed in command of Saumur Artillery School hospital at Saumur, France. When the hospital was disbanded on February 6, 1918, he was ordered to Base Hospital 103 at Dijon. He returned with the hospital and was discharged on August 26, 1919.

The post of the Legion at Fostoria was organized by Doctor Johnson. He has been active in its work and in that of the state department since that time.

Unique and Impressive Memorial Is Unveiled

Perhaps one of the most unique and impressive memorial monuments ever unveiled was dedicated by the American Legion of Manchester, Massachusetts, recently. The American Legion monument at Manchester does not glorify war; it shows it stark and terrible, but as the crucible from which evolves the dawn of a new and brighter day. This is done through two medallions appearing on opposite sides of the monument. One called "Night" pictures a skeleton hanging on the barbed-wire before the trenches, every line making it seem to swing and rattle as the winds play about it. Beneath the skeleton are the words, "Lest We Forget." On the opposite side of the monument is a medallion called "Dawn." There, brother has met brother with gripped palms while the sun of a new era is illumining the world, and in the clouds, depicted through the forms of naked babes, the spirit of a generation yet unborn proclaims the new era and the ideals for which the World war was fought.

Docked for Lost Time; Will Try to Change Law

At a meeting of the American Legion at Lowell, Mass., recently a movement was set on foot to change the existing city ordinance whereby city employees who observe Memorial day by refraining from work on that day are "docked," to the effect that employees may observe the day without loss of pay. Several veterans, who did not work on Memorial day out of respect to their departed buddies, had their pay "docked" by the city as a result. The Legion sought the advice of Department Judge Advocate Joseph M. Bartlett, who advised that the city, acted within its rights under the law, whereupon the local post took steps to amend the law.

To Aid Tuberculosis Victims
Convalescent homes for tubercular veterans in New Jersey will be placed under the direction of a central committee of Legionnaires, if plans under consideration are adopted. Accommodations for tuberculosis victims in arrested stages will be provided at the Hunsberg convalescent home conducted by the Legion, the medical advisory staff has decided.

Wonderful Victoria Falls
The great river Zambesi, after flowing for miles through a level country in Rhodesia, suddenly disappears in a chasm less than 400 feet wide and creates one of the world's wonders, Victoria falls. About a mile from end to end the falls are divided by many islands and projecting rocks forming the Devil's cataract.

INSTRUMENT TO TEST BRAKES OF AUTO

The United States bureau of standards, in Washington, has been making tests on auto brakes with a view to setting safe standards for their performance. In making these tests, the decelerometer, an instrument invented by the bureau of standards is used. This instrument is set on the floor of the car without being attached to it and held in position by a heavy weight and springs. When the brakes are applied the weight moves against the springs and causes a pointer to move on the dial, indicating the number of feet required to stop the car from 20 miles per hour without regard to weight of car.

RIGHT TIGHTNESS FOR AUTO BRAKES

Too Many Drivers Fail to Look Ahead and Check Speed of Car Gradually.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

Any man who caught himself cutting the tires of his motor car with a file would voluntarily apply for admission to the nearest insane asylum. Yet the same fellow will lock his brakes, slide ten feet and think nothing of it.

Too many drivers confuse their tires with skates. Instead of looking ahead and checking the car slowly they are right in the middle of a jam and then slam on the brakes. And eventually an accident results. A brake cannot stand this sort of treatment forever.

No Excuse for Dragging.

There is no excuse for having brakes that drag, for dragging heats them up, wears them out unnecessarily and it absorbs a lot of the power of the engine. Brakes should not be too loose, for they will not act quickly enough to avoid danger. On the propeller shaft brake there is a nut on the brake band which can be adjusted to make the brakes just the proper tightness. The rod connecting the pedal to the brake can be turned either to the right or to the left to make it the right length for efficient use of the brake.

In fact, when in doubt about your brakes, if there are only two of them, jack up the wheels and apply the brakes far enough so that it is just possible to turn one wheel by hand. Then adjust the brake on the other wheel so that the same amount of energy is required to turn that wheel by hand.

Can Avoid Much Trouble.

Most brake trouble will be avoided by using this important part of the car properly. When coming to a stop on a straightaway, close the throttle and leave the clutch engaged until just before you come to a stop. This causes the engine to assist the brakes in bringing the car to a standstill.

So also in going down an ordinary hill, leave the clutch engaged and close down the throttle. But in going down a steep hill, or a moderate hill with a heavy load, put the gear in intermediate or low speed at the top of the hill and leave the clutch engaged. Shut off the throttle.

Use the brakes as little as possible when driving. When an emergency stop is necessary, close the throttle, leave the clutch engaged, apply the foot brake and pull, if necessary, the hand brake. But do not lock the wheels. Keep the wheels rolling to avoid skidding.

In driving a car, enjoyment can be guaranteed when the brakes are properly functioning. No automobile owner can fall to do less than give careful attention to this phase of motoring.

Ammonia Destroys Finish

There used to be a common practice of trying to brighten up the finish of the hood by a solution of ammonia. This is about the worst thing that could be done, as ammonia destroys the finish. Unfortunately the ammonia gives a little brilliance to the finish, but in the long run it ruins it. In fact, car manufacturers recommend that no car be kept in a stable, as the ammonia from the manure gradually destroys the enamel surface.

Protecting Mudguards

In making extensive engine repairs or adjustments it often happens that the mudguard or fender will be bent and otherwise marred. This may be prevented by making a cover of some heavy material, oilcloth or imitation leather of some kind, which will cover the fender from its tip to the place where it is fastened to the running board.

Spare the Spare Tire

Automobile tires are wrapped in paper by the manufacturer because tire makers know that sunlight and air sap the strength of rubber. It should be protected until it actually goes on the rim for road service.

Statistics prove that a tire good for an average of 8,000 miles when it leaves the factory will lose approximately 2,000 miles of life by being carried, unprotected as a spare for one year.

A tire cover made of rubberized-coated fabric will outlast many tires. It will cost less than the 2,000 lost mileage on one unprotected spare.

Neatly covered tires look so much better hanging on the back of the machine than do bare tires. The covers are waterproof and can be washed without injury as often as the car is washed. They come in colors to match the body finish.—Motor Life.

Spring Wheel Adapted for Huge Motortrucks

The Scientific American in illustrating and describing a spring wheel, the invention of W. J. Davis of Redig, S. D., says:

The invention has for its object to provide a wheel especially adapted for heavy motor vehicles, wherein resilient mechanism is arranged between the rim and the hub for cushioning the hub against the rim. An inner wheel is provided consisting of a hub, a rim, and spokes connecting the hub and the rim, and an outer auxiliary rim arranged concentric with the wheel. This rim carries a solid tire and is connected to the inner rim by a series of straight plate springs which are made fast to the inner and outer rims. The plate springs are connected by coil springs being passed through openings in the plate springs.

Automobile Facts

An automobile on the road these sunny days is worth 23 in a workshop.

Points of spark plugs will burn away gradually, and if not readjusted will cause misfiring.

The rubber hose at the top and bottom of the radiator should be changed at least once a year.

When the clutch refuses to work properly the trouble is either a spinning clutch or a seized bearing.

Don't cross the bridge until you come to it, then make sure that it is wide enough to accommodate two cars.

The fear of overpopulation in America is groundless. Our automobile speeders will see that it doesn't come to pass.

The advisability of passing a car at the curve depends on whether the widow will think the loss covered by insurance.

Serious injury is often caused tires carried as spares by allowing them to become water soaked during a rainstorm.

A barber of Sheboygan, Wis., has fitted up a motor truck as a traveling barber shop to serve the farm population of his county.

Rhodora.
Some unpoetic person described the rhodora as being "a scraggly bush covered with red flowers," while Emerson called the lovely blossom "rival of the rose." Emerson's description seems preferable, since the rhodora is really exquisite. And, although the bush actually is "scraggy," the flowers are so perfect in form and color and fragrance, one does not mind the contour of the branches. One quite understands why Emerson was moved to say, "beauty is its own excuse for being," when speaking of these New England bloomers.

Alexander Ordered Army to Shave.
Apart from its ancient religious significance, shaving had its uses in military purposes. The beard formed a too convenient handle in the combats of olden days and Alexander the Great accordingly issued an army order to shave. It is curious to notice the reversions of fashion in the matter. The huge monuments of the Assyrians show the conquering armies full-bearded and only the slaves and captives shaven, but at a later period it was the Norman conquerors who were clean-shaven, and the bearded barbarians who were the conquered.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective Insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

TWO MEN KILLED

When Machine Skidded and Crashed Into Telephone Pole.

James J. Martin, aged 37 years of 1105 Pennsylvania avenue, and John J. Troutman, aged 45 years of 377 Sycamore street, Columbus, members of the firm of Martin & Troutman, plumbers, were instantly killed at 3 o'clock this morning when their machine skidded and crashed into a telephone pole at Obetz Junction. A third man believed to be Frank R. Flynn was injured and was taken to Mercy hospital.

The men with several others had attended a farewell party given for one of their employees, who was soon to leave for California and the party was on their way home when the accident happened. The wet road is said to have been the cause of the accident.

Only last Tuesday Charles J. Roling, of Columbus, after a visit to relatives in this city, was killed on the Columbus pike south of the Big Walnut bridge on the Lockbourne road, not far from where the accident occurred this morning.

Mr. Roling was one of the employees of the Columbus postoffice where he had been employed since May, 1886. He was a past master of Humboldt lodge of Masons.

Fox Trot's Name From Horse.

The fox trot, which has apparently come to stay in dancing, takes its name from the similarity of its movements to the peculiar step of the American trotting horse when it is making fast time, and not to the resemblance to a fox's movements. The popularity of the fox trot is found in its rhythm, of course, and this is one of the characteristics of a trotting horse when he is making good time, though when a trotter is just jogging along there isn't so much rhythm in evidence.

Poor Diagnosis.

"Yes," exclaimed the doctor, "I never made such a mistake before. Usually I guess right, and nobody can accuse me of a wrong diagnosis with any of my cases. But I'll admit I fell down on that patient you mention. You see, I didn't know he was rich enough to have appendicitis!"—Exchange.

DON'T TEAR UP ROADS.

Keep off highways under construction or being repaired. This is the advice given recently by Charles C. Janes, secretary of the Ohio State Automobile association.

The same suggestion is being made by all clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association in an effort to speed up road work and insure better workmanship.

"The majority of motorists," Janes said, "could avoid reconstruction work if they would take the trouble to post themselves on roadbuilding and look up secondary routes. As matters stand, road work is seriously handicapped by motorists who are themselves troubled over the delay."

"The demand for non-detour construction has grown to a point where the motorist is virtually demanding a non-construction order of things. Road work in many instances has resolved itself into traffic regulation."

"Since the motorist must pay for it all, it stands to reason that he would be gaining by endeavoring to stop interrupting the contractors. With the rapid development of secondary roads in all parts of the country, there is little reason to insist upon traveling over routes that under repair."

"When making inquiry regarding construction work, the motorist should get acquainted with the secondary roads, many of which are more interesting and better suited for steady driving when one is trying to make good time on a trip."

FOOTBALL

First Game of Season Will be Played Next Sunday on Mason's Field.

Football is now coming to the place where it is considered the great American game, that is it attracts a following superior in numbers to any other sport patronized by the great sport loving public of the United States.

Circleville, along with the other cities of this land has its full quota of football fans who delight in this fine outdoor game. We have for a number of years had very successful teams representing our high school and on a number of occasions Independent teams have been put in the field in this community, and they have been well supported by our people.

Circleville Aerie of Eagles, which is ever ready to help advance the community in any way, has been for the past few years breaking into the athletic game, not from a money making standpoint, but to try and afford our town and surrounding territory with high class sport. They canvassed the situation and came to the conclusion that Circleville should this year be represented by the best football team that can be assembled in this territory and at a recent meeting went behind the project and perfected an organization.

A call was sent out for players and a squad of more than twenty responded and it is expected to add to this original squad in the next week or so. Every player who reports will be given an opportunity to show his ability and it is the intention of the management to carry a squad of from twenty to twenty-five thru the season.

A contract has been made with W. H. Mason for his playing field and the ground will be laid out and the playing field fenced off, in time for the first game which will be played this coming Sunday afternoon.

The first game of the season will be with Rosenfeld's Accessories, of Columbus, a team which played last season under the name of East Columbus Bull Dogs. This game will be free to all ladies and it is hoped that a large number of the fair sex will be out to inspire the boys to win their first contest.

Letters have been received by the manager from a number of teams looking for Circleville dates, among others Chillicothe and Murray City Tigers, and if the team receives the proper encouragement at the beginning of the season a number of the best teams in central Ohio will be seen on the local gridiron during the coming season.

Until further notice all games will be called at 2:45 o'clock and every possible effort will be made to have the contests start on time.

Go out Sunday afternoon and look the boys over and if you like the prospects for football this season get the habit and come out every Sunday.

FETILIZING WHEAT.

Wheat has given a large net return from the use of acid phosphate in every test but one on fourteen farms of the Ohio Experiment station including the principal oil types of the state. The addition of manure or of the other elements of a complete fertilizer has still further increased the profits in most of the experiments.

These experiments have been running from 5 to 30 years and with the exception of one test on the rich new soil of the Paulding county farm, show average increases in yield of 4 to 12 bushels per acre for the use of acid phosphate alone. The addition of the other elements in a complete fertilizer with a high percentage of phosphorus, say a 2-12-2 or 2-16-2, will prove more profitable on many soils especially where little or no farm manure is applied, than acid phosphate alone.

Word of Many Meanings.

What does not that word cheerfulness imply? It means a contented spirit; it means a pure heart; it means a kind and loving disposition; it means humility and charity; it means a generous appreciation of others, and a modest opinion of self.—Thackeray.

MOTORISTS

Visiting motorists to Columbus may hereafter disregard the yellow notices pasted on their cars, giving them notice to attend the traffic school.

If you are a non-resident of Columbus, you may return the notice by mail with a brief explanation to the director of public safety. This is pleasant news to out of town motorists as the order has inconvenienced a great many owners of cars who have parked wrong or stayed parked in one place beyond the time limit.

Wisdom for Wives.

A wise old minister, before parting with a young couple he had joined in matrimony used to slip a card into his bride's hand on which was printed this advice: "When you marry him love him. After you marry him study him. If he is honest humor him. If he is generous appreciate him. When he is sad cheer him. When he is quarrelsome ignore him. If he is slothful spur him. If he is noble praise him. If he is confidential encourage him. If he is secretive trust him. If he is jealous cure him. If he favors society accompany him. When he deserves it kiss him. Let him think how well you understand him, but never let him know that you manage him."—Boston Transcript.

She Clutched at a Straw.

The elevator was at a standstill, but the floor of the car was a few inches lower than the floor of the building, says the New York Sun and Globe. A young girl hurriedly entering the car and not noticing the step stumbled and fell. The arms of a stout man with a cigar in his mouth saved her from accident if they did not save her from embarrassment. When she had extricated herself and recovered both her pulse and her dignity her rescuer turned to her with a polite request. "May I have my cigar back, please?" he asked.

A magnificent epic of the early west is James Cruze's latest Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," which will be the feature at the Met theater for three days beginning Monday next. This is a picturization of Emerson Hough's new novel of the same name and it is said to be one of the greatest photoplays ever seen on the screen.

The features embraced in this story are many and varied and include among others, the start of 350 covered wagons from Westport Landing (now Kansas City) in 1848. The terrors of fording freshet rivers, prairie fires and the like are depicted with great realism. A buffalo hunt is one of the most exciting scenes. Old Fort Bridger with a night attack and fight by day with Indians, are shown. The dividing of the trails to Oregon and California at old Fort Hall, a touch of the gold fever in California, magnificent mountain shots and a culmination of the romance with the establishment of one of the first homesteads in Oregon these are all incidents in a picture that bristles with big scenes.

Such historical characters as Kit Carson, Jim Bridger and Bill Jackson scouts and typical western characters are portrayed in the Paramount screen version of the novel, which is conceded to be one of the most notable literary achievements of the present decade.

The various roles are in the hands of well known screen players. The leading man is J. Warren Kerrigan, and the leading woman is Lois Wilson. Alan Hale is the villain. Others in the cast include Tully Marshall, Ethel Wales, Charles Ogle and John Fox. Jack Cunningham adapted the novel to the screen.

Metropolitan Opera Company at Memorial Hall, Columbus, October 7, 8 and 9. Music lovers in Circleville and vicinity are displaying keen interest in the announcement which has reached them from various sources of a series of concerts to be staged in Memorial hall at Columbus, Ohio, on the evenings of October 7, 8 and 9, by the outstanding artists of the Metropolitan Opera company. It will be the first time in history that grand opera of the highest type will be brought to this portion of the state and according to announcements by the management in Columbus, the greatest singers in the country at the present time will be brought together for the three day event.

A number of persons in Circleville have already expressed their intention of going to the Ohio Capital City to attend one or more of these grand opera concerts, it being, in most cases their first opportunity to hear music of this sort. Some have already made reservations at the Columbus headquarters.

The following operas will be presented: Tuesday, October 7, "Il Trovatore;" Wednesday, October 8, "La Boheme;" Thursday, October 9, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" the latter two to be presented at the same performance. These four operas are the most famous in the old school of music and because they are repeated so often only proves that they are the best.

Among the singers who will appear during this season of grand opera are Frances Peralta, leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company; Queena Mario, another leading soprano of the same organization; Marietto Wakefield, contralto; Vincente Ballester, leading baritone; Ralph Errolle, tenor, who recently came from the La Scala Opera company in Milan, Italy, and made a successful debut in the Metropolitan; Madame Jacoba, soprano, another artist from the same Italian organization; Paul Althouse, a well known American tenor; Greek Evans, another tenor who is making rapid strides to the top in the Metropolitan company and a score of other singers who have gained world prominence thru their artistry and talent.

The operas will be under the direction of Jacques Samamoud, of the Metropolitan, who came from the famous Moscow Opera company. The complete Metropolitan Opera company symphony orchestra will furnish the accompaniment for the distinguished singers. Added to this is a full-fledged chorus, complete and elaborate scenery and all other embellishments that go to make grand opera of the highest type.

The prices of the seats for the Columbus concerts are extremely modest compared to rates charged for grand opera in many eastern cities. Best seats in Memorial hall are being sold for $4 plus tax. Others are being offered for $2.50 and $1.50 plus the tax. A special inducement, season tickets which include all three concerts with the best seats are selling for $10 plus tax. Reservations can be made by writing to "The Box Office, Grand Opera concerts, Heaton's Music store Columbus, Ohio."

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP

SCHOOL NOTES.

Washington township girls, playing their first game of baseball, easily outclassed the Stoutsville girls by a score of 9 to 4. The Washington girls were in no danger at any stage of the game.

Stoutsville boys had the edge on the Washington township boys. Washington started the game making two runs in the first frame. Stoutsville was unable to score until the third inning. Washington weakened allowing five runs in this inning. In the last inning Washington forged ahead again but could not overtake the Stoutsville lead. The game ended Stoutsville 7; Washington 6.

At the end of the second week Washington township finds the school work progressing splendidly with 143 enrolled in the grades and 24 in the high school. The teachers are planning a year of good hard work. Athletics shall continue in the school, but modified to some extent.

Markings on Moon.

The naval observatory says the darker and lighter markings seen on the moon are due to irregularities of its surface, such as mountains, valleys, plains, etc. The darker portions are of lower elevation than the lighter and may formerly have been sea-bottoms. Temporary changes of shading are caused by variation of the angle at which the sun is shining on the surface.

Remarkable, Watson!

Speaking of bulls, Conan Doyle wrote, recommending a certain dictionary, "I once amused myself trying to find words which were not in it, but I didn't succeed."—Boston Transcript.

"A tribute to Rufus Fearing Dawes" which was written by his father, Charles G. Dawes, now candidate for vice president of the United States, and read as a part of the funeral exercises of this son, who was accidentally drowned in Geneva Lake, September 5, 1912, presents the candidate in quite a different light from that of some of his more recent and better known public expressions.

The tribute was addressed chiefly to the young friends of Rufus Fearing Dawes, who were present in great numbers, because he said he felt it a solemn duty to project the high lesson of his life when their grieving minds and hearts would the more indelibly receive the final impressions of his memory. Perfected with a brief review of his short life Mr. Dawes concluded his tribute in these words:

"My boy lived long enough to win out. Whatever the years would have added would be only material. In a man's character is his real career. He died in the midst of happiness. He died with his high ideals unlowered. He died with all the noble illusions of a high minded youth undisturbed and undispelled. He died without having lost ambition, with his eyes fixed on the high mountains of life, where beyond any question, had he lived, he would have climbed.

"But, dear young friends of my boy, he had already climbed to the high and rough ways which lead up the steep mountain of character. He stood firmly at the top. Mistake not. It was no easy or accidental victory. Material achievement may be both; but no moral victory is ever easy, or ever accidental.

"But yesterday strong and joyous in the full might and swing of buoyant youth, surrounded by his loving friends, the sun of his happiness high in the sky, Rufus Fearing was mercifully spared the sight of the grim reaper, whose unseen hand was even then upon his shoulder. But had this happy boy turned and seen him beckoning him away from the dear ones, from his home, from his parents and his sister, from the great battlefield of life with its fine victories to be won you know and I know, that without complaint, clear-eyed, unafraid, in simple unquestioning faith, with hope and trust in his Lord, my dear son would quietly have followed into the darkness of the shadow."—J. H. Galbraith in Columbus Dispatch.

Sea-Island Cotton.

Practically all of the sea-island cotton is produced in the states of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, the finest coming from the chain of islands off the Carolina coast. It is well named sea-island cotton, as when grown away from the coast the fiber rapidly degenerates into upland cotton unless seed grown in the islands is obtained for planting successive crops.

Several species of sea urchins occur on our Atlantic coast, says Nature Magazine. The sea urchins feed on vegetable matter and seaweed, which they scrape from the rocks with the sharp teeth of their remarkable dentary apparatus.

Anthrax Breaks Out in Several States

Cattle and Sheep Are Most Susceptible to Disease.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Anthrax, an acute infectious disease affecting animals and occasionally man, has broken out in several southern and western states, the United States Department of Agriculture announces. Reports from veterinarians of the bureau of animal industry show that the most serious outbreaks have occurred in Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and South Dakota.

Cattle and sheep are most susceptible, but none of the domestic animals are exempt. Anthrax is caused by a germ which multiplies rapidly in the body, especially in the blood, and produces poisonous substances which cause death. The germs probably are most commonly taken in with food, though they may gain entrance also through wounds.

The symptoms of anthrax vary greatly, according to the acuteness of the attack. The early stages usually are characterized by high fever, rapid pulse, and labored breathing. In the most common form of the disease there are also local external swellings or tumors. Death ensues in from a few hours to several days.

Medicinal treatment is usually of no avail in acute cases. The most effective method of dealing with anthrax is by prevention. The preventive measures recommended are (1) protecting individual animals by vaccination and (2) burning or deeply burying the carcasses of animals that have died of the disease, so as to avoid infecting the ground.

Ruling Is Announced on Grapes Sold in Boxes

Lug boxes containing grapes are required by the federal food and drug act to be marked to show the quantity of grapes in the package, if they are shipped into interstate or foreign commerce, according to a recent announcement by Dr. C. A. Browne, chief of the bureau of chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture.

The text of the letter follows:

"The federal food and drug act classes as misbranded an article of food if it be in package form and the quantity of the contents be not plainly and conspicuously marked on the outside of the package. Information relative to marketing practices gained through investigations at points of production as well as of distribution and consumption justifies the conclusion that grapes in lug boxes, whether lidded or uncovered, are food in package form within the meaning of the act. The containers should therefore be labeled with a plain and conspicuous statement of the net contents in terms of the largest unit, either of avoirdupois weight or of dry measure, contained in the package."

Cottonseed Not Favored as Protein for Poultry

One of the objections to cottonseed meal for poultry feeding is its unpalatable quality. Birds will not eat as much of the mash when it has cottonseed meal in it as they do when it contains animal proteins. When bone ash such as precipitated bone, bone flour or raw bone is added to the mash it has a tendency to increase the value of cottonseed meal and the birds will eat it much better. A very good supplement to a mash containing cottonseed meal is chalk, 2 pounds, 2 pounds bone meal and 1 pound of common salt to each 100 pounds of mash.

Cottonseed meal has not been popular with poultry keepers as a source of protein for poultry and this is doubtless due to the fact that it is not very palatable.

Farm Hints

It's weather, not wear, that destroys most farm machinery.

Is the tractor in shape to do the fall plowing and fitting?

Added tools often stand for multiplied efficiency on the farm.

Adopting a farm name is not enough. The next thing to do is to use it.

The wise farmer studies not only soil and seed, but the food habits of the consumer.

The trying season for sheep is here. Ewes nursing lambs and on short feed will feel it. The lambs will show it.

Uncle Ab says, "That co-operation means sharing the downs as well as the ups, and that there are always some downs."

Lightning rods, poorly installed, are worse than none at all. Be sure that the ground connections are at least eight feet deep, or down to permanent moisture.

Dawson's golden chaff, a beardless wheat especially adapted to southern Jersey, yielded 51 bushels per acre in trials at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station in 1923.

Rape seeded at the time of the last cultivation of corn will provide an abundance of late feed for hogs. It is particularly valuable in corn fields that are to be hogged down.

Georgette Crepe Gown Chic for Stout Women

This black georgette crepe gown, heavily beaded with wooden beads and lavishly embroidered in tan, makes a charming appearance.

Fashion Notes That Are of Interest to Women

Gray grows in favor since it shades in so well with the black and white combination that is so popular.

White bodices joined to black skirts are exploited by some of the smartest creators of fashion.

The combination of flame-colored crepe and black satin is one that is decidedly popular for dinner gowns.

Gold leather is being used by French designers in the trimming of fall hats. Narrow strips are wound about the crown or made into small bows or cockades.

A jabot and collar of plaid chiffon and a hem of the same make very attractive decorations on a gown of navy blue flat crepe.

Diagonal bands of lace trim frocks of organdie or voile made without belts and sleeves.

Very short gloves with full gauntlets, which give the effect of a ruffle about the hand, are worn with sleeveless frocks by the smart Parisiennes. Bands of red and black are very much liked as trimming for white sport dresses.

The medium-sized hat does not exist this year, either it is a broad-brimmed model, practically untripped, or a small shape that is mostly crown and no brim.

The ostrich boa has returned to favor this season and is used very effectively to give a certain flattering effect about the neckline. Tulle and chiffon are both used for scarfs that have no mission in life but to please.

Matching accessories are the rage this year. Hats and purses match, as well as the scarf, umbrella and purse. It is a fad that can be overdone very easily and must be handled with discretion.

Now Paris says from ten to fifteen inches from the floor is the range allowed in skirt lengths. That means that shoes and hosiery are going to become even more important than now.

Styles of Handkerchiefs Demand Much Attention

Styles in handkerchiefs have engaged the attention of the most exclusive merchants, and some entirely new ideas have been established. The all-white handkerchief is something for the conservative only, and little account of it is taken by the up-to-date element. Since the first gay kerchiefs appeared, beautifully colored linens and voiles have been brought out. White squares with borders of the most artistic shades of mauve, yellow, blue, green, rose or gray are shown, the corners in blocks of deeper shades, and most effective.

Delicate colors are deepened in the hems, which now to be fashionable are wide, and these are to be had in both linen and cotton in great variety. To be quite an fait one should have her handkerchief match her stockings. Some women carry the same color from hat to shoes, in every detail of costume. In contrast to the batik nouveau art and other bright-colored handkerchiefs shown earlier in the season, the more quiet hues are popular now.

Various Ways to Avoid Slipping of Lingerie

The annoyance of lingerie straps, with their inconvenient way of appearing from beneath the neckline of the frock, is avoided in various ways by women who study these important little details of their toilette.

Some sew inside the neckline of their frocks, just at the shoulder seams, a pair of little ribbons of the same color as the frock. These slip under the shoulder straps of the lingerie, and fasten to the inside of the frock with a couple of snap fasteners. Others provide their lingerie with narrow removable shoulder straps made of beads. A few women refuse to wear shoulder straps of any kind, and provide their singlets and camisoles with a strip of elastic run through the upper hem. This device, however, provokes the criticism that "one must not suffer too much to be beautiful."

Cupid Rode to Victory in an Elephant Hunt

By MILDRED GOODRIDGE

"BE tolerant, Ephraim, remember you were young yourself once." "I do, Martha, but I've seen the folly and outcome of selfish pleasure and I want to instill the principle into Alan's mind."

"Going to a circus once in awhile won't pervert the dear boy," declared Mrs. Woods. "I've sometimes thought we were making him old before his time. For my part I am glad to see him brighten up, as he has since the excitement and glare and glitter of the circus came right next to us."

"You fell in love once, Ephraim," remarked Mrs. Woods naively. "Did it hurt you any?"

"You dear woman!" cried her husband expansively, "I'm more in love with you now than ever. You were a minister's daughter, though, and this girl is a circus woman."

"Hardly, Ephraim," contested his wife. "She is a dear, sweet creature, in charge of a little angel of a child who rides the big elephant."

This had happened to disturb the quiet humdrum life of the Woods family. A circus had camped on the vacant lots next to their house. The stake men came to the pump for water, and insisted on paying for it. Some of their grazing horses broke down a fence and devoured a small haystack. The fence was replaced with a new and better one and double the value of the fodder was forced upon Ephraim, who had to concede that "they were very fair folks."

One day a neatly dressed young lady crossed over from the living tent of the circus into the Woods yard. Alan was at once struck with her modesty and beauty.

"I would like to see Mrs. Woods," she said.

"My mother is not at home," explained Alan. She tarried for a moment irresolutely, something in his earnest sympathetic face attracting her.

"You have shown our little company a great many accommodations," she said, "and we are truly grateful. I had come to ask a very great new favor of your mother."

"If it is urgent, I will be glad to act for her if I can," replied Alan encouragingly.

"Mrs. Woods knows why we continue with the circus," she said. "When Idalia's father died he owed the circus proprietor a few hundred dollars on the elephant. You have seen Idalia's pretty act where she acts as trainer of the elephant. At her father's request (he was my half-brother) I have gone with Idalia to care for her. She has finally earned sufficient to pay off the debt her father owed. Today she is quite ill. The noise and bustle of our tent prevents her resting. We are to remain here only two days longer. I would be glad to pay any price to have a quiet room and home comfort for the dear little one."

"I will go with you and carry her over here at once," declared Alan readily. "She shall have my room."

Mrs. Woods, when she returned, at once set about acting as nurse for the little patient. The circus company moved away 48 hours later, but neither Miss Mercy Lester nor Idalia went with them.

The child developed a slow, wasting fever. The elephant was leased to the circus and a substitute for Idalia found. This insured an income to the little patient, and should she not return to the sawdust arena, a good bulk figure from the sale of the elephant.

Even when another month had passed by little Idalia was not yet entirely well. Then some important news came. The circus, stranded, had gone to pieces. Its proprietor wrote Miss Lester that the elephant would be sent back to her in charge of one of his men.

But a month went by and neither man nor elephant appeared. Alan started an investigation.

One evening, still in quest of some clue as to the whereabouts of the missing animal, Alan happened into a moving picture show. One of the films depicted a day's life of one elephant. The moment Alan saw the first reel he recognized the missing animal from a peculiar mark on its breast.

It did not take long to run down the subject of the picture. The unworthy messenger had leased the use of the elephant to some film makers in an isolated movies camp, and was enjoying a regular income.

It was the evening after Alan had returned home to report to Miss Lester that he had not only found the elephant, but had an offer of $12,000 for the animal, that little Idalia and the family were discussing the future plans of their guests. Miss Lester had just told of her desire to buy a modest little home in a near-by seminary town.

"But there are good schools here," instantly chimed in little Idalia. "I don't want to leave Uncle Alan and my dear friends here."

"And we do not want you to, dear," said Alan, lovingly stroking the golden-haired child. "Nor you, Miss Lester," he added impulsively, before all of them. "You have read my heart long before this. Will you stay—as my wife?"

"I shall never love any man as I love you," said Mercy frankly, placing her hand confidently within his own.

Care of Ferns.

To keep ferns in a healthy and growing condition, to prevent and to kill insects and diseases, a proper condition of atmosphere should be carefully maintained at all times. Extremes in moisture, heat, or dryness should never be allowed. In potting ferns after they pass the 4-inch pots, a potting stick should always be used, as the potter cannot very well firm them with his fingers, and it secures evenness in potting. Ferns should be potted tight, especially old plants. They should be shifted into larger pots whenever necessary. Once a day is often enough to water a fern.

Better see about that fur trimmed coat, scarf or dress. Have them cleaned and packed in a moth proof bag. We give a bag free with each winter suit or coat, DRY CLEANED.

GOITER

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

GOITER is an enlargement of the thyroid gland. This structure, one of the largest glands in the body, lies at the base of the neck.

Goiter has been recognized for centuries. It was known to the Greeks and Romans. It has been common for hundreds of years in certain districts in Switzerland, France and the Balkan states, not only among human beings, but also among calves, lambs, pigs and fishes. Tradition and popular belief attributed this enlargement of the gland to drinking water from certain springs and streams. It was never found along the seashore or among people who ate large amounts of sea food.

Scientific knowledge on the subject is just catching up with popular belief. Recent investigation has proven that simple goiter is due to lack of iodine in the body. This was discovered in a curious way.

The Pennsylvania state fish commission found that goiter was becoming so common among fish that it considered abandoning its fish hatcheries. Doctors Marine and Lenhart were asked to investigate.

They found that the water in the hatcheries and fish ponds was lacking in iodine. So they added a small amount of iodine to the water and goiter disappeared.

Doctor Shira, the health officer at Akron, Ohio, heard about this. Doctor Kimball, the local school physician, had found in 1920 that over half of the girls in the public schools had goiter. So the doctors asked the girls if they wanted to take iodine to prevent or cure goiter. Half of the girls agreed, so 5,000 were given a small amount of iodine in their drinking water for two weeks each spring and fall. The other 5,000 girls drank ordinary water.

Not one of the girls who drank the iodine water developed goiter, while 27 per cent of those who drank ordinary water did develop it.

Three years ago, iodine and chocolate tablets were given to all the school girls of St. Gall, Berne and Zurich, Switzerland, and the amount of goiter in these three cantons has been reduced nearly 75 per cent.

Now, Doctor Olin, health commissioner of Michigan, has issued an order prohibiting the sale of any salt in the state which does not contain iodine.

It is too early to say positively what the result will be. It is apparently proven that goiter is caused by lack of iodine and that a small amount in the food or water will prevent this condition.

So the old Greek physicians who burned seaweed and sponges and gave the ashes to their goiter patients weren't so foolish, after all.

Writer Tells Tale of Genuine "Horse Laugh"

The intelligence of horses is proverbial, but I once saw a horse do a stunt which was almost uncanny in its appearance of wisdom. Several years of my life were spent in a jungle station in northeast India and while there we had a jungle bred pony named Tempest.

He was well named and could generally be depended upon to live up to his reputation. One of the white men in the station by the name of Smith had a small pony, but he usually preferred to borrow Tempest when going on a long tour through the hills. Tempest had carried him several times and invariably came home with a sore back. This man's office was beside the main path used by natives and was unfenced, says Vinny Preston Loops in Our Dumb Animals.

Upon one occasion Mr. Smith had asked to use Tempest and preparations were completed for his journey. His syces, or horse boys, had been sent to look for the horse, which had disappeared in the jungle to pasture, as was his custom.

The boys hunted long and thoroughly, but in vain. Mr. Smith sat writing in his office beside the path when suddenly Tempest appeared, trotted up to the open window and looked in. After a leisurely survey he stretched out his neck, gave a long "Hee-he-he-he," turned and galloped off into the jungle again.

Mr. Smith was obliged to use his own horse on that trip, for Tempest did not come back until he had been gone for several hours.

Why Rawlinson Lost His Faith in Dreams

Rawlinson felt that the warning was no longer to be heeded. Three times he had dreamt that somewhere concealed in his flat was a quantity of valuable silver.

"You are right, John," said Mrs. Rawlinson; "we must hunt for it."

That night they spent a considerable time in knocking the walls to find a hollow place. At last they hit upon it, and after some artistic manipulation of a chisel and a coke-hammer Rawlinson succeeded in dislodging some bricks. There, hidden on the other side, lay the realization of his dreams. Valuable silver plate—only waiting for them to take it.

How they gloated over their find! But just as they were considering how they should spend the money it would realize, there came a furious ring, and their next-door neighbor bounced in.

"What the deuce do you mean by breaking into my dining room cupboard?" he gasped.—London Tit-Bits.

Hen Mothers Hound Puppies

Five young deer hounds on the farm of F. Coven near Port Credit, Ont., have deserted their mother for the sheltering wings of a hen. When the litter was born the hen was brooding and, for lack of eggs, she spread her wings over the struggling puppies. Since then the animals have left her only to go to their mother for food. Even while they are feeding the big hen stands guard over them. Now the little animals have grown too large to completely shelter under the hen, but she still stays with them.

Sets Watch to Second

A watch was recently submitted to the United States bureau of standards for examination which has a special attachment called a "minsec." By pulling out the stem the second hand is stopped on the sixty second mark and held there until the crown is pressed. This enables one to set the watch to the second with the time of a standard clock. A patent covering the device has been applied for by the inventor.

Betrayed by Mercury

Guilty secrets are said to be bared unerringly by an apparatus invented by Dr. Albert Schneider, of the University of California. The suspect places the forefinger of each hand on contacts from which run minute wires to a capillary electrometer and an arrangement of glass tubing. Through one tube runs a fine thread of mercury, fluctuations of which are said to betray the suspect.

"No Swearing" Club

Joyce Martin, a little girl living at Bath, England, has formed an "anti-swearing" club. The entrance fee is one penny, and one penny fine is levied for each "swear-word." Sunday expletives are charged double. A sum of $8.25 has already been sent to charities.

Early Church Utensils.

When our Puritan forefathers first began to pass the plate for contributions in the meeting house it was not a plate they passed in most places, but a brass warming pan. Into this the coins jingled cheerfully until someone decided that it was too cheerful and a long-handled wire corn popper was substituted. The artistically carved and velvet-lined plates used in many churches today are a recent adaptation. In the earliest colonial days no collection was taken at all and the salary of the parson was paid in pork and pumpkins, potatoes and peas, flour, dried apples and beans, with occasional "donation parties" that provided further luxuries. When church activities began to extend beyond the immediate parish it was necessary to collect coins, so the warming pan and the corn popper were both used to gather them up quickly.

Sailor's Snug Harbor.

Sailor's Snug Harbor, the home for old and disabled seamen, was planned by Capt. Thomas Randall and founded by his son, Robert Richard Randall. He bequeathed his farm known as Minto farm, lying just south of Union square, Manhattan, for the purpose. The will was prepared by Alexander Hamilton and Daniel D. Thompson, and Gov. De Witt Clinton helped to secure the charter. The home was founded in 1801, though the corner stone was not laid until 1831; the first building was opened in 1833.

"Mother Carey."

The telephone bell rang and a faithful reader said: "We all know that sailors call the stormy petrel Mother Carey's chicken, but who was Mother Carey? I've asked several shipmasters, but they're as ignorant as I am." Inasmuch as the ultramarine reporter was absent on assignment, it was necessary to consult the reference books, with this result: "The name Mother Carey is possibly corrupted from the Latin mater cara (dear mother), in allusion to the Virgin Mary." The explanation is plausible, at least. Sailors of old carried their religion with them, even when they embarked on a voyage of plunder, and it is reasonable to suppose they directed their prayers to the Virgin when the stormy petrel gave warning of heavy weather.—New York Evening Post.

Anti-Fat Campaign in 1863.

The fattest man of all history is a title that has rested undisputed on Daniel Lambert, who died in his fortieth year at Stamford, Eng., in 1809. Mr. Lambert is said to have weighed 730 pounds, almost 200 pounds more than his closest competitor, Mr. Bright, who lived in Essex in the previous century. Bright, however, was scarcely a sylph, for his waistcoat is reputed to have enclosed seven persons of ordinary size, with room to spare. One of the first recorded anti-fat campaigns was that inaugurated by William Banting, who published a pamphlet on the subject in 1863. He urged as a cure greater moderation in the eating of sugar and starch, and gained so much fame that today "banting" is common vernacular for undertaking a restrictive diet.

ROME PREPARES FOR 1,000,000 PILGRIMS

Vatican and City Plan to Look After 1925 Throng.

Rome.—The Eternal city has generally taken eternally long to make those alterations which her increasing size and growing population render necessary. Now, however, she has drawn up a program of improvements which, if half of it is carried out, will transform Rome from an old-fashioned, somewhat disorganized city into a modern capital. These changes will be made between now and next January, the beginning of the jubilee year.

During 1925 Rome expects between 1,000,000 and 3,000,000 pilgrims. The greatest needs of these visitors will be for housing accommodations, food and means of transport.

Both the Vatican and the municipality are ceding ground on favorable terms on which are being erected buildings suitable for future use as hotels. The Vatican especially is considering the needs of the poorer pilgrims, for whom large barrack-like houses will be provided, where all, however small their means, may have shelter and a reasonable amount of comfort.

The population of Rome has grown from the 250,000 in 1870 to about 1,000,000 today.

When Rome became the capital an excellent system of drainage was installed, but the increase of population has necessitated its enlargement, and this year alterations and improvements on a huge scale are being carried out.

Half the roads of Rome have been relaid this winter and the other half are awaiting their turn to be dug up.

In preparation for holy year a large number of new lines of trams and autobusses will link together those already existing, in order that pilgrims may easily visit the distant basilicas and do as much sightseeing as is possible in the intervals of their religious exercises.

New Material Lessens Building Cost in Russia

Moscow.—Russia's scarcity of living accommodations and the high cost of building material have forced the soviet authorities to experiment in the construction of what are termed "thermolite" houses, the invention of a Russian engineer named Peter Galakhoff.

A thermolite house has the conventional framework of wood, but a liquid material of heavy consistency (thermolite), composed of sawdust, straw and common tree leaves, mixed with lime, plaster and antiseptic solution, is interposed between the outer and inner boards.

When this mixture becomes hard, the house is rendered moisture-proof, resists decay, and is impervious to certain insects. With a coating of special paint containing the same ingredients as "thermolite," the house is also rendered fireproof. Houses of this type, according to the inventor, can be erected for 25 per cent less than the ordinary house and can be completed within less than six weeks.

Radio Replaces Pastor on Island Off Sweden

Stockholm.—A radio loud-speaker has taken the place of a minister for the first time in Sweden on the Island of Utöe in the Stockholm Archipelago.

The congregation, after having taken part in the service broadcast from Stockholm, was enthusiastic in its praises of the new scheme, since the island, especially in the winter time, often cannot be reached by ministers, owing to bad navigation conditions.

STATE PUBLISHES

SPECIAL BULLETINS.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster has issued half a dozen monograph or special bulletins within the last two months. These are No. 374, Potato diseases; No. 375, Co-operative livestock marketing; No. 376, Effect of high and low protein content on the digestibility of the dairy ration; No. 377, Manure and fertilizers for truck crops; No. 378, Intestinal worms of swine (anthelmintic experiments); and No. 379, Soil potassium as affected by fertilizer treatment on a cropping.

These publications are free. However, owing to the cost of publication and in order that none may be wasted they are sent only on request. The bulletin on potato diseases, livestock marketing and truck crops are especially valuable because of their fund of practical information. The others are more technical in nature and will appeal to the student and scientific worker.

In addition to these monograph bulletins, the station publishes a 32-page bi-monthly bulletin each containing five to ten articles on subjects of practical interest. This bulletin is mailed free to 70,000 citizens of the state. Other names are added to this list upon request.
